

LOURENSFORD HONEY LIQUEUR

Lourensford Honey Liqueur is crafted from the purest, top quality Bluegum (Eucalyptus) honey.

It is commonly known that the best honey is made from Bluegum trees, of which there are over a thousand species world-wide. Three of these species, however, are associated with honey that is absolutely superb. One of these unique species of Bluegum is found on our beautiful Lourensford Estate. It is from these special trees that our bees meticulously gather succulent nectar to make the truly superior honey which are used for our honey liqueur. This honey liqueur therefore captures the essence and unique biodiversity of Lourensford in a bottle, making it the only Estate honey liqueur in the world.

TECHNICAL NOTES

Lourensford Honey Liqueur has a distinguishable honey aroma that follows through on the pallet with a pleasantly dry, but lingering aftertaste. It is a non-vintage product with an alcohol content of 24% and has a shelf life of more than 25 years. It will also keep for months after opening. Our honey liqueur is unfiltered and contains no additives or preservatives and thus embodies the essence of natural purity and health benefits which honey is known for.
